Katie Brock is making the Kuliva dish in honor of her grandfather, Ken McCabe. It will be offered at the coffee hour next Sunday, June 2nd commemorating the forty days since his repose. Koliva is an Orthodox memorial dish that is heavy with ritual significance. It's more a metaphor than food, really symbolizing the circle of death and rebirth. The wheat berries represent the promise of everlasting life, the raisins the sweetness of life, and the spices are symbols of plenty.
